

The Chair for Entrepreneurship under the direction of Prof. Dr. Dietmar Grichnik, is currently conducting an international search for the position of

PhD Candidate and Research Associate (m/f) in Entrepreneurship (70%)

As a part of the research team, you will participate in research projects as well as publications and contribute to the chair's varied activities in teaching and outreach. In particular, you will be supporting the various on-campus startup activities that are organized by the group, i.e. Startup@HSG, the central point-of-entry for HSG students interested in becoming entrepreneurs and starting an innovative venture.

What we offer

- PhD from one of the leading business universities in Europe
- Excellent work conditions to become a leading researcher
- An inspiring work environment and a great team
- Strong interaction with entrepreneurs
- Switzerland offers outstanding living conditions
- Starting date: September 15th, 2014 (or upon agreement)

What we expect

- An exceptionally motivated candidate
- Strong interest in entrepreneurship
- A passion for research
- Hands-on approach to participate in the projects of Startup@HSG and the teaching activities of the chair.
- An excellent Masters degree in management, economics or technology
- Proficient oral and written German and English skills
- Active engagement in working as a small entrepreneurial team
- Startup experience is a plus but not a requirement

Applications should include a detailed CV, transcripts and certificates along with a letter of motivation. Further information can be found on www.item.unisg.ch/ent or under +41 (0)71 224 7201. Please send your complete application documents to Prof. Dr. Dietmar Grichnik, dietmar.grichnik@unisg.ch at the Institute of Technology Management, Chair for Entrepreneurship.

We are very much looking forward to your application.
